

FIFTEENTH ANNUAL READINESS SUMMIT

1-2-3, Come Read With Me -

Rebecca Conley, Montgomery County Educational Service Center

This presentation will focus on three important emergent literacy skills: Phonemic Awareness, Oral Language and Print Awareness and their relation to Scarborough's Rope.

Resources

- Reading Rockets: What We Know About Reading and the Brain
- Scarborough's Reading Rope
- Lecture by Dr. Stanislas Dehaene on "Reading the Brain" This part specifically talks about speech processing in the baby brain.
- Reading in the Brain: The New Science of How We Read, by Stanislas Dehaene

Rebecca Conley is a Regional Literacy Coaching Coordinator through the Ohio Department of Education and Workforce. She has taught kindergarten, first and second grades as well as Title One and English Language Learners. Conley earned her structured literacy certification through the Center of Effective Reading Instruction (CERI), using the Orton-Gillingham Academy and Wilson Reading Systems.

