

Public Health Readiness 101

Facilitators: Jennifer Wentzel & Dr. Kimberley Freeman

Public Health Dayton and Montgomery County leadership will share programming and services families can access to thrive. Opportunities include child health and parenting classes, as well as how we partner with our community to make Montgomery County a healthy, safe and thriving community.

Jennifer Wentzel was appointed Montgomery County Health Commissioner in December 2021. Prior to being selected, she served seven years as Director of Environmental Health.

Dr. Kimberley Freeman has more than 20 years of public health experience in non-profits, local government and managed care. Throughout her career, she has focused on chronic disease prevention, maternal and child health, addressing health disparities and promoting health equity.
